SCHOOL OF THE MUSEUM OF FINE ARTS, BOSTON, PRESENTS
“SENIOR PROJECT EXHIBITION”
SMFA Undergraduate Artists Showcase Culminating Work

WHAT:

The School of the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston (SMFA), will present the “SMFA Senior Project Exhibition” from May 7–20, 2007. The exhibition is a compilation of work by 12 graduating students who volunteered to participate in the Senior Project, an independent studio pilot project led by faculty members Fritz Buehner and David Cabrera. The project is an exciting development in the School’s unique studio curriculum that is designed to grant advanced students studio time to hone their work, and culminates in an exhibition of the completed projects. Next year, the School hopes to double the number of students participating in the Senior Project.

The “Senior Project Exhibition” offers insight into the richness and diversity of the School’s interdisciplinary program and includes a wide range of media, from film, video, and photography to sculpture, performance, and installation. Each of the pieces on view not only embodies the students’ final semester of work, but also honors the growth and development of their art practice during their time at SMFA.

EXHIBITING ARTISTS: Angelique Alvarez, Evelyn Ellias, Pearl Emmons, Ivoire Foreman, Wittney Guterl, Ani Irish, Mark Jewett, Calvin Lee, Sara Lewis, Cathy Lu, Rebecca Scheckman, and Tim Wong.
